published, Bob was killed between Marsh-Sheriff R. P. Goodall, of Laclede County. The sheriff had been spotting Bob for some days, and encountering him on the train, presentied his revolver and demanded his surrender. Bob instantly drew his pristol, but the sheriff was too quick for him, and fired killing him instantly. The body was brought to St. Louis and Sheriff Foute, of Loudon County went there, and telegraphed back fully identifying the body. The body was to arrive in Chattanooga last night, about 11 o'clock, and will be kept there till today's train, when it will be brought to Lou-

The Crowd Yesterday.

The crowd in the city yesterday was by Saturday. They were coming on foot, in wagons, on horseback and every other way all day Sunday, and before night every livery and hitch stable was full, and turning them off, and all the boarding house were filled to overflowing. Yesterday the crowd was very largely augmented. Immense train loads of people came in or all roads, and there was one of the largest crowds on the streets ever seen in Knoxville. It was a booming day for the hotels, as well as most all kinds of business. The crowd was reasonably orderly, for such an occasion, and gave the large extra police force but little trouble

During the past several months I have had much trouble and annoyance about my mail. Have lost quite a number of letters between Chattanooga and Bristol, among which were some two or three of much importance. Some of these letters were mailed here, and others mailed at various points along the line for me at Knoxville. Have had letters to consume three to five days coming from stations on the road, and likewise in going from this city.
